PATIENT APPOINTMENTS

Call 859-218-4431

The Fertility Preservation program provides consultation to pediatric, adolescent and adult cancer and blood disorders patients receiving chemotherapy and/or radiation that will impair fertility. Our specialist works closely with colleagues in Reproductive Endocrinology and Infertility (REI), the Markey Cancer Center and the pediatric oncology team at Kentucky Children's Hospital to preserve the fertility and reproductive health of patients of all ages and genders. Consultation prior to initiation of therapy allows implementation of the best fertility preservation options and is recommended. Patients are seen throughout the course of their treatment as options may remain available. Late effects of therapy on hormone function and reproductive health are also addressed.

Pediatric and Adolescent Gynecology offers specialized reproductive care for patients from birth through age 21. Our physicians are fellowship trained in caring for the unique needs of younger patients. Examinations and procedures are tailored to ensure comfort in the pediatric, adolescent and young adult patient.

We specialize in the treatment of many conditions commonly seen in younger children including:

- Labial adhesion: a common condition in prepubertal females that sometimes blocks urine flow
- Lichen sclerosus: whitening of the skin of the genitalia which is associated with pain, itching, blistering and scarring if left untreated
- Ovarian masses
- Precocious puberty: early pubertal development
- Prepubertal bleeding: bleeding before the normal age of menstruation
- Vulvovaginitis: irritation or infection with or without associated discharge
- Vulvar and vaginal trauma

We specialize in the treatment of many conditions commonly seen in teenage and older patients including:

- Abnormal uterine bleeding
- Contraception
- Dysmenorrhea (painful periods)
- Early and delayed puberty
- Ovarian cysts and benign ovarian masses: fluid-filled sacs formed on the ovaries
- Pelvic pain and endometriosis
- Polycystic ovarian syndrome (PCOS): a hormonal disorder
- of women of reproductive age, sometimes causing menstrual irregularity and excessive facial and body hair growth
- Premenstrual syndrome (PMS)
- Primary ovarian failure
- Sexually transmitted infections (STI)
- Vulvar ulcers

Our team also provides specialized care for patients with conditions that span all age groups to include the following:

- Disorders of sexual differentiation
- Gender identity disorder
- Minimally invasive surgical technique
- Oncofertility (fertility preservation)
- Surgical correction of congenital anomalies of the reproductive tract

UK'S BLUE ANGELS

The UK Blue Angels program was developed to assist local health care providers and pregnant women across Kentucky.

The program gives these providers access to the expertise of Maternal-Fetal Medicine physicians at UK HealthCare without having to travel to Lexington. High-risk ultrasounds can be read remotely by the physicians in Lexington and local providers can consult in real time with the UK specialists.

Currently, services are provided in Ashland, Belfry, Hazard, Manchester, Middlesboro, and Prestonsburg.
